Fans greet new state champions

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Fans of the Granite South soccer team, who were huddled in small clusters to keep warm, sensed the bus approaching the school as the Warriors returned with the state trophy yesterday afternoon.

Many of those present had just returned from Northfield and neighboring Chicago suburbs after watching South defeat host team New Trier 2-1 in an exciting final game the previous night.

The crowd contained parents of former players like Mr. and Mrs. Bob Briggs, whose son Barry played goalkeeper on the 1977 and 1978 teams, and soccer enthusiasts like Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mann, loyal Warrior supporters.

Former team members present included David Fernandez, now with St. Louis University, John Prazma, who was a member of the "Granite City Connection" at the University of Alabama-Huntsville, Rich Becherer, who played for Northern Illinois University, and Gary Hency, who was at Aurora College.

Large crowds at the annual reception are as traditional at South as winning the state tournament and yesterday's group was no exception.

The 300 or so fans huddled together and talked soccer: Warrior soccer. As the bus drove along Nameoki Road, someone saw the reflection in the windows of the stores at Bellemore Village Shopping Center of the flashing lights on the two police cars escorting the team's bus. The cars in the small parade started to honk their horns and a city fire truck sent out a deep blast from its horn.

The team had arrived. Fans, many of whom wore black and white construction paper feathers labeled "GHS Warriors," ran toward the parking lot entrance in front of the gymnasium. But the bus, sporting a white sign reading "Dixie" and rebel flag outlined in black, took a victory lap before coming in.

"We're No. 1! We're No. 1," went the familiar chant of the crowd.

As the bus pulled into the lot, coach Gene Baker emerged from the gymnasium. Because of car problems his fiancée, Sheryl Evans, and family members encountered this weekend, he had decided to drive back separately. He smiled, shook hands and waited

Sasyk responds to questions from Concerned Citizens

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk Friday agreed to answer a list of eight questions posed in letters to him and to the Press-Record from the Madison Concerned Citizens organization, signed by Thomas Voloski, president.

Sasyk indicated he was answering the questions reluctantly, since he feels the Madison Concerned Citizens is "a political organization with police running it." Responding to the letter's demand for answers, Sasyk responded, "I'm not a slave to them," but said he will answer the questions for the enlightenment of the good and caring citizens who, with him, want to see Madison grow and gain a constant source of income.

In Voloski's letter, he said the questions were posed on issues "which affect us as residents and taxpayers of the city. The questions, and Sasyk's answers, follow.

UTILITY TAXES

Question: It has been one year since the five percent utility tax was imposed upon us. How much money has been collected since the tax was imposed? What is the money being spent for? How much of the tax money is being spent, if any, to repay the bonds on the Mini Mall, when we were told that it would cost us nothing as taxpayers?

Sasyk's answer: "The figures are available in the budget and are published in the newspaper. We are not hiding the books. You can read the budget."

"The Mini Mall is not costing the taxpayers a cent. All the money spent on the Mini Mall comes from the bond issue. We approve the bills for payment and the payments are handled through First Granite City National Bank."

"The contractor still has a few items to take care of before the architect gives his final approval and he and the contractor get their final payment."

CABLE TELEVISION

Question: How can the city administration, mayor and aldermen authorize purchase of cable television equipment, knowing they may be in complete violation of state statutes for a non-home rule city to own a cable television company?

Sasyk's answer: "We don't have a cable television system. We have a burglar alarm, hospital and ambulance call system going in. Thirty percent of people's homes are broken into every 10 years. This will be good for our people."

"I plan to appoint a committee soon to look for other ways to put in cable television legally. I don't think people understand the future of cable television. With the industrial park revenue ending, this could be a source of continuing revenue for our city, the same as the alarm system. Either we go out of business or into business."

MONEY EXPENDED

Question: How much money, exact dollars and cents, has been spent to date on the proposed city-owned cable television equipment, such as truck, tower, computer alarms, wiring, tools, meters, cable, preliminary study, Florida consultant fees and expenses, city officials' trips to Florida and all other cable television and related burglar alarm expenses?

Sasyk's answer: "Again, the figures are available. I would love to sit down with them (Concerned Citizens) and show them, but they don't believe what they see. Wednesday at 5 p.m. I will meet with the senior citizens and discuss it with them."

DEPRECIATION

Question: With the depreciation factor now, two to three years later, what is the cable television equipment worth?

Sasyk's answer: "There is no such thing as depreciation in this type of equipment. The price keeps going up, not down."

PROFESSIONAL CABLE

Question: Why has the city administration not found a professional cable television company like Granite City or Venice. Is not 5 percent of 7 percent of something better than nothing and the expenditure of thousands on equipment which now is in storage and becoming obsolete?

Sasyk's answer: "For monetary reasons. The city's take from professional cable television would be only three percent, not five or seven. We believe we can raise much more revenue with our own system."

MAKES'S SALARIES

Question: Does the revenue from the current alarm system justify the salary of the city alarm supervisor (Mike Macke), who also holds other city jobs as the ambulance coordinator and fire chief. If the city is in such financial trouble, how can the administration

New Steelworker vote

Presidents of United Steelworkers locals have been called to a meeting Friday in Pittsburgh to act on new contract provisions proposed by the eight largest steelmakers.

Details of any potential settlement remained unclear as the two sides worked toward a negotiating deadline of tonight.

Talks have been held this month in an effort to aid jobless steelworkers and in an attempt to ease producers' costs.

The "big eight" are said to be encountering deficits likely to exceed $3 billion this year.

Union and management failed to reach accord in bargaining immediately prior to Aug. 1, the start of the final year of the current three-year agreement.

The November talks have been made difficult by the fact that mills' losses have grown and they are even less able to pay supplementary unemployment benefits. Basic benefits are expiring for many of the 137,000 out of work.

The July proposal would have placed a near-freeze on steelworker wages and benefits over a three-year period, partly by limiting cost-of-living payments. Workers are reluctant to give up the cost-of-living concept, although many are willing to revise it.

A cost-of-living raise effective Nov. 1, 1982, was deferred until Dec. 1 to allow time for bargaining to take place this month. It will be paid retroactively next month if there is no new pact.

Unless there is a "meeting of minds" this week, there is speculation that a

Probe zoning angle in political donation

No wrongdoing has been alleged but the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation is probing a political contribution that went through Madison County Assessment Supervisor James Barton to the unsuccessful campaign of State Treasurer Jerome Cosentino for the office of secretary of state.

State's Attorney Don W. Weber also has taken note of the issue and has declined to say whether there will be a grand jury investigation. A potential zoning issue on property near a landfill is part of the state probe.

The unspecified donor is said to have sought rezoning of property in Madison County but failed to obtain it. The Zoning Appeals Board rejected the proposal 7-0 in June and the County Board voted 21-1 in August to concur with the zoning board's negative recommendation.

Barton says he offered half of a $1,000 contribution to Walter Greathouse for use on behalf of Democratic candidates, unaware that Greathouse was a member of the appeals board. The latter is said to have decided not to become involved, citing the potential conflict of interest related to the special use permit request.

The other $500 went to other 1982 campaigns. The portion rejected by Greathouse was offered back to the donor, who declined it, and next was forwarded by Barton to the Cosentino campaign, he said.

State Rep. Everett Steele received a call last spring from a man who said there was something worthy of an investigation. The legislator immediately alerted the state about the call.

Barton told the DCI the contribution from a longtime acquaintance was

United Way tops its goal

After the five group vice chairmen reported their respective totals to date, all exceeding their goals, General Campaign Chairman Roger Higgins enthusiastically announced that the 1982 fall campaign of the Tri-Cities Area United Way had indeed reached and surpassed its goal.

Higgins reported Friday afternoon total campaign pledges of $630,179, which is 100.8 percent of the $625,000 goal.

"In accepting the position of campaign chairman, I was hesitant at the beginning, if $625,000 was an achievable goal due to our high unemployment and business climate in the Tri-Cities area.

"As the campaign kicked off, I was confident that we would not only achieve, but surpass our goal this year," Higgins said.

Catch suspect in parking lot, office incidents

Fred E. Oliver, 55, of 1539A Twentieth St. was jailed at 9:25 p.m. Thursday after a three-day hospital stay that followed two incidents at St. Elizabeth Medical Center last week. He was charged with battery and unlawful restraint.

At an SEMC office a man grabbed a woman about the knees and made obscene gestures while fondling himself.

A short time later, the man who had been at the office spoke to and followed a woman, 33, as she walked across the Washington Avenue parking lot of SEMC toward her auto.

She ignored him and continued on her way but he grasped her arm and pushed her against her car, causing her to strike her hip against the vehicle.

She resisted and screamed for help. Asserting "I'm not going to hurt you," he grabbed her and tried to push her into the car while fondling himself.

Three women from a Granite City school arrived at the parking lot, heard her cries and left their auto, calling to the man to stop bothering the woman.

One of the arrivals asked a parking lot attendant to summon help, but he misunderstood. Another of the three women then entered the SEMC lobby and obtained security guards.

A visitor told them the suspect was walking south along Washington Avenue and the guards took Oliver into custody at the southeast corner of the parking lot. He was sent on a fence post.

Oliver denied involvement to police officers, who alleged that his trousers were open as they placed him in a squad car.

ARRESTS AT SCHOOL

Two unrelated cannabis arrests were made Friday morning at GCHS North. Charged with possessing a marijuana cigarette, Roger Tipton, 17, of 3 Queensbury Court was released at 2:30 p.m. that day to his parents. Also released to his parents was a 19-year-old, charged with having eight cigarettes and a pipe.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

WILLIAM PATTON
Exec. Vice-President

Q. I'm aware my deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation but are the documents and items in my safe deposit box insured by the bank?

A. Most banks which rent safe deposit boxes do carry liability coverage which protects the institution against charges of negligence, and also coverage against loss or damage of the contents of the boxes. However, most do not carry this coverage insuring the content, and for a very good reason: The bank does not know what is inside the boxes and, therefore, cannot judge how much insurance to carry. Most homeowners' insurance policies, however, do protect the contents of a safe deposit box.

If your's does not, a so-called floater policy may be purchased for that purpose. It is not necessary to disclose the contents of the box to obtain insurance. Coverage premiums are generally very reasonable. Records detailing the contents of the box should be kept in a safe place outside the box, however, in order to establish value in case of a claim.

Soccer 'dynasty,' a GC tradition

It takes an outstanding combination of athletes, coaches and fans to build the kind of dynasty Granite City has developed in the soccer world, which was re-emphasized by Granite City High School South's clinching of the state soccer title again this weekend.

Granite City has won seven of the only 11 state soccer tournaments ever held with South holding title to six of those victories in the last seven years. (This year's victory went to the South Warriors, despite yesterday's Granite City Journal banner headline "Soccer Steelers Win First and Second Game.")

Any team has to shudder when told it will play Granite City, either North or South. The shame of the split schools is that this city probably has two of the best teams in the state and one automatically eliminates the other before reaching the Elite Eight.

While some parents and fans got wrapped up in the North-South rivalry this season, no one should lose sight of the fact that Granite City is blessed with two great coaches, both gentlemen, and should fight to retain them. They are part of our winning tradition. To lose one part of the "team" endangers the collapse of the dynasty.

In a completely selfish way on our part, it is disturbing news that South Coach Gene Baker has applied for the vacant coaching position at St. Louis University and has to be considered among the top candidates.

Certainly, he has "paid his dues" and deserves to move upward. However, Baker turned down the head coaching position at Cleveland State earlier this year and may enjoy working at the high school level.

We doubt we can do much to influence Baker's thinking, but we want him to know that we are behind him and will continue to be, should he stay here. He has proven that he is a fine coach, a fine person and an important part in putting Granite City on the map for something positive.

Our hats are off to everyone involved in Granite City soccer, the players, the fans and the coaches. We're the greatest!

Students setting good example

It seems the National Honor Societies at Granite City High School North and South are taking a step in the right direction in working together in the upcoming weekend to raise funds for the United Way campaign.

This year has been a rough one for both schools as bitter rivalries in athletics and other areas, which have been brewing for years, emerged into a physical confrontation on the soccer field. It is time to let the rivalries die and turn attention toward cooperation and friendship.

The National Honor Societies are meant to take youths with leadership abilities and give them meaningful roles in the schools. We think they are showing such leadership now in initiating a joint project for the good of the entire community.

The Societies of North and South are working together in planning this weekend's fund drive. The presidents are working together and, hopefully, this weekend, we will see North and South students standing side-by-side at businesses and banks Friday and Saturday soliciting funds for the United Way.

"We wanted to do something together for the good of the entire community and show that North and South students can work together, putting the differences of the past behind us," one sponsor said Friday. We could not agree more.

What better place to start than with the National Honor Society chapters? We hope it is the just first of many such joint efforts by the two schools and its students.

Pity the maligned housefly?

Another myth debunked. According to the Wall Street Journal, a science historian at Michigan State University has determined that houseflies — so long condemned and so routinely executed for allegedly fitting between garbage pail and dinner plate, carrying disease-carrying bacteria — are actually harmless.

Apparently, it is only theoretically possible for flies to pick up germs in one place and deposit them somewhere else; in real life, disease-carrying bacteria are too vulnerable to survive the trip.

Although we feel obligated to publicize this information, we doubt the housefly's reputation can be rehabilitated. Too many generations of Americans have been raised to be soldiers in a battle against fly contamination in which every American home, as the "Ladies' Home Journal" once wrote, is "an outpost on the firing line."

And entire industrial empires have been built up to arm the public with flyswatters, fly sprays, flypaper and window screens for the crusade.

It's terribly unfair, of course, to the maligned flies, but, on the other hand, they do seem to prosper annoyingly, despite the unjust war. Even the Michigan State, researcher admits he doesn't "really have particularly warm feelings for them."

Perhaps he should have left well enough alone.

Freed too fast from mental care

Quad-Cityans' hearts go out to the families of the 27 prisoners killed in the Nov. 8 Biloxi, Miss., jail fire that is being blamed on a local resident, Robert Pates.

Hearts also go out to his family, which watched helplessly as an apparent LSD overdose (placed in his drinking glass without his knowledge at a college party) changed him from a pleasant, positive person into an erratic, confused and sometimes dangerous individual.

A team leader and good citizen during his high school days, Pates, 31, later fell into a pattern of 25 mental hospital stays interspersed between arrests for inappropriate behavior.

Judging by the fact that his mother telephoned Biloxi authorities the day before the fire to warn that he needed special attention during custody, officials there may have been negligent in placing him in a padded cell where he could gain access to a lighted cigarette.

Whether he fell asleep while smoking, as he contends, or intentionally ignited the padding—creating lethal smoke and fumes inside the cellblock—it appears that inadequate procedures were followed by jail personnel.

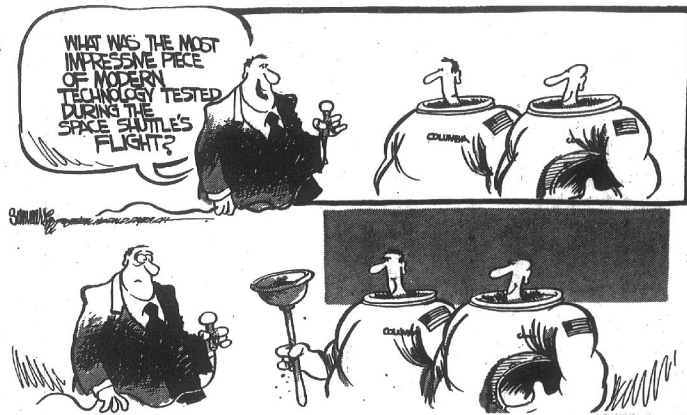

In any case, the effort to have him executed in the Mississippi state gas chamber—launched even before many of the facts of the tragedy were known—seems excessive. Perhaps it is a kind of vengeful way of diverting attention from sins of omission at the jail, where the one key to safety for the inmates was in the hand of a lone jailer who was overcome by the smoke.

Pates must and obviously will stand trial for misconduct of some sort, if not 27 murder counts. If insanity is his defense, it does not eliminate the need for future incarceration.

In fact, Illinois health officials' unwillingness to retain custody of him for lengthy periods is a big factor in why he was free to go to places like Mississippi. He drank excessively and, when not under treatment, often failed to take the medicine that kept his emotional highs and lows within more reasonable bounds.

We understand that unstable persons who have not committed a felony have a right to live their lives relatively unfettered; America is not Russia, where all types of "troublemakers" are locked away indefinitely. But surely the Granite Cityans' long record of problems should have been sufficient to prompt doctors to slow down the "revolving door" through which they kept sending him into society.

Feels the council should obey liquor limits

To the Editor:

I am writing the following to the Forum in response to the "GC liquor licenses still exceed limit."

An ordinance is a rule or law which regulates or controls situations, usually for the good of its purpose.

If one can not obey the law, what happens? The city council has several answers, take your choice: ignore the law, make up special rules, change the law. They have used all three.

For more than a year, the council has been in violation of a dry ordinance, which limits the number of liquor licenses to 39. They now have issued 46, to date.

Mr. Mayor, city officials, why? You may explain away your shortcomings by saying, "We need the revenue." If the facts were known, the city pays out more than it takes in because of liquor sales. As an example, ask the police department how much time and money is spent because of the use of liquor. I will not go into all of the details on the evil of drink.

You also may say, "who cares." As a concerned Christian citizen, I care. Please take the time to ask others. They care too.

What does the Bible say? Maybe at the next council meeting, someone could read Proverbs 29:1-14, government is obligated to give its citizens law, order and justice. Now to be fair, we the people need to read the Bible also, Romans 13:1-7. Organized government exists by the will of God.

You are servants of the people and we are to be loyal and obey your authority when it is for the good of mankind.

Therefore, you and we must correct evil, injustice, corruption and violations of personal rights.

Family provided a safe Halloween attraction

To the Editor:

For many years, I have had the privilege of teaching in the West Granite area. I have long been aware that the children whom I have taught are very special and that their parents are very caring and concerned people.

This was made even more evident last week. Mike, Chris and Jamie Vance and their parents provided the children who attend Logan School with the opportunity to visit a free haunted house on Sunday, Oct. 31.

While others were complaining about the terrible things that children might encounter while trick-or-treating, Mike, Chris and Jamie were planning an event that would give all the children in West Granite a safe, exciting alternative to what could have been a very unhappy occasion.

The parents of Mike, Chris and Jamie supported the children's efforts. They also printed and distributed a marvelous flyer which announced the event and which provided parents and children with a list of safety tips for Halloween night.

Mike, Chris and Jamie Vance and their parents have set an example for all of us to follow and they provided the children in West Granite with a safe, exciting Halloween — one which the children who attend Logan School will long remember.

Disappointed in police response to a plea for assistance

To the Editor:

What are police for? I recently called the Madison Police Department to register a complaint and the response I received was inexcusable as they hung up on me.

I was told that the complaint was to be registered with the sheriff's department, due to it being outside of their district. I understand this is true, but feel that their way of handling the problem was inadequate.

I feel they could have dispatched a squad car until sheriff's deputies could arrive. I believe citizens of Madison deserve to be treated as the police officers like to be treated.

Writer believes veterans deserve respect

To the Editor:

When a man or woman goes into any of our armed forces, for any reason, he or she becomes a protector of, not only our freedom but of our belief in ourselves as a Democratic society and our Christian beliefs.

What do they expect when they come home? Respect and understanding for their years of service and hardships.

But no, a veteran is just someone who was in the service. This is the wrong attitude.

All of us need to honor he past and present veterans. Especially our Vietnam Veterans who have fought these past years and their participation in our "forgotten war."

Fire safety books appreciated

To the Editor:

The Madison Volunteer Fire Department, Fire Chief Mike Maciek, along with the First National Bank in Madison, Consolidated Aluminum, Kreider Truck Services, W. L. Waggoner Trucking Company and Lanter Refrigerator Distributing Company are to be commended for providing the children of Madison Community Unit District 12 with a fire safety workbook.

The materials are excellent fire safety information written in a highly interesting manner. The children have eagerly used the workbooks.

We appreciate their concern for our children, our most valuable resource. They are the citizens that help to keep our community safe and strong.

received as a political contribution in an election year.

Barton views subsequent public airing of the gift as possible "sour grapes" over the rezoning turnaround.

The assessment official voiced concern that someone may be attempting intimidation by using county officials, the DCI and news media. He said he has not been asked to appear before a grand jury but would be glad to do so.

No favors were asked and none were given, he commented. Since the donor often gave to election campaigns, the gift was not regarded as unusual, it was related.

Barton said farmland near Route 203 at the southern county boundary may have been obtained because of its proximity to a landfill that needed "borrow pits" providing soil to cover trash.

nationwide steel strike can be expected in August 1983.

Meanwhile, National Steel Corp. Chairman Howard M. Love, a former Granite City Steel president, told an international business conference Friday at St. Louis University that unnecessary federal regulation is hampering the U.S. in competing with other nations.

"American industry has suffered from an adversarial relationship with its own government while it competes with foreign nations whose markets are protected from our exports by tariffs, restrictions or 'red tape'."

"There has been marked improvement, but much more needs to be done to provide greater continuity in the business environment. Operating within ever-changing restrictions is like permit, its utilization for borrowed soil is greatly restricted.

Barton said another reason Greathouse did not want to help pass along the campaign contribution was a proposal to link land on both sides of a drainage canal levee. Greathouse heads the Metro-East Sanitary District, which has declined to authorize a bridge or culvert across the canal to speed hauling of dirt.

navigating a ship by a star that moves erratically in the heavens.

"We are willing to accept the problems of predictable evolutionary change, but we cannot successfully prepare our strategies, identify our markets, price our products, prepare our long-term wage contracts and alter our relationships in an environment of constant and sometimes erratic change," Love asserted.

like everyone else to see the team. As the Warriors left the bus and walked single-file into the gymnasium, one fan reached in his pocket and brought out handfuls of confetti. "Ticker-tape parade. Ticker-tape parade," he yelled as he emptied his pockets onto the heads of team members.

As the crowd entered the gymnasium, South band members played "Another One Bites the Dust," apropos of the Warrior's sixth state championship in 11 years and Granite City's seventh victory during that time.

South Principal James Dumont introduced Baker as "the greatest soccer coach in the state of Illinois and in the area." Met with a standing ovation, Baker turned the microphone over to Dan McGowan, one of the team's managers who also has done the announcing for South during the season.

"We have the best coach in the country with Gene Baker. We have the best team in the state with the soccer Warriors. But we have the best fans ever," McGowan said. Then, in a style that defies duplication, he introduced each team member and all were given an opportunity to say a few words.

Senior defender Jim Crews also thanked the fans. "When we were down 1-0 in that championship game, we heard you all and it really kept us going."

Others thanked the coaches and parents and several echoed senior striker Fritz Brewer's sentiments, "I believe South's gonna always bring it home."

Assistant Coach Mel Bunting gave the crowd a coach's perspective. He reminded them that the Warriors are not professional athletes making big bucks, or college athletes drawing expensive scholarships.

"A tremendous amount of pressure has been applied to these boys, particularly by the coaching staff. For this we never apologize. We do apologize for anything we may have said during halftime of the championship game."

According to Brewer, at halftime when the Warriors were behind New Trier 1-0 the coaches "told us we could do it if we wanted to do it. If we just played our hearts out we could win." And they did.

chairman, reported pledges totaling $9,610 or 100.1 percent of that group's goal. Group B, headed by Paul Raczkiewicz, reached 101 percent of its goal reporting pledges of $53,536.

Group C, which solicits government employees, including the local school district employees, had the highest group percentage with 102.2 percent. Pledges totaling $36,739 were announced by Christ Pashoff, who reported for Art Menendez, Group C vice chairman.

Menendez was in Northern Illinois watching his son, John, play for the Granite City High School South Warriors soccer team, which won the state soccer crown for an unprecedented sixth time.

Bob Glik, Group D vice chairman, reported pledges of $68,059, which is 104.4 percent of that group's $65,200 goal.

Group E, which solicits pledges from industry, construction and transportation, faced the largest monetary challenge of the campaign with a goal of $459,308, or 73 percent of the total campaign goal. Darryl Slater, vice chairman of the group, proudly announced total pledges of $463,235 or 100.9 percent of that group's goal. It was noted later during the luncheon that Granite City Steel has made a corporate donation of $90,000, despite layoffs and production cutbacks. Pledges this year by the steel company and its employees, including $182,000 from the Torch Club, total $272,000.

Numerous corporate and employee awards were presented after Higgins' remarks. In addition to these awards, Patrick Foley, photographer and reporter for the Press-Record, presented a "Citation for Community Service" in recognition of the newspaper's coverage of the United Way campaign and related events. George Cook, AFL-CIO Community Services director, also was presented a special award for "his conscientious and cooperative support to volunteers in conducting employee campaigns during the 1982 campaign."

Mary Turk, a senior at Granite City

High School North, gave an inspiring and motivational speech to the luncheon group. She is a volunteer candy stripper at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and has been selected as the 1982 Metro St. Louis Area Youth Volunteer for the United Way.

Miss Turk also was selected "Youth of the Year" by the Granite City Optimist Club and has been picked as a "Teenager of the Month" by the Granite City Elks Lodge for November. A short film featuring country and western singer Loretta Lynn, was shown to the group before the luncheon meeting was adjourned. Miss Lynn made the film, about the hearing impaired, for the United Way.

Bill Terrell, president of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, announced that the annual meeting of the United Way Board of Directors is scheduled for Monday, January 24, 1983, at Charlie's Restaurant. Business to be conducted at that time will include the election of officers and the seating of new board members.

Study sewer delinquencies

By PATHAY LUTZ

for the Press-Record

The delinquency rate for unpaid bills among residents tapped onto sewers in the Madison County Special Service Area Number One is at 20 percent, according to the billing supervisor, Larry Bilbrey.

In a report to the sewer committee on Wednesday, Bilbrey indicated that this percentage does not include residents who are not tapped onto the canal to speed hauling of dirt.

"We have approximately 200 residences that are not yet tapped on yet and about 100 of them are delinquent in their payments," Bilbrey stated.

Bilbrey was not able to give a specific reason for the high delinquency rates, but he suggested that some people have registered complaints against the sewer district and are refusing to pay their bills until they are satisfied.

In many cases, citations have been given to residents and Bilbrey indicated that he will take offenders to court. "If the citations do not work, we will go to small claims court," Bilbrey said. "Some of these people owe a couple hundred dollars. We have to get their money some way."

Bilbrey also reported that the billing department is working to regulate billing distribution and collection. There presently is a fluctuation of four to five days when the monthly bills are sent out, sometimes causing confusion among residents.

"In November, we are sending out the bills for October with the due date in December," Bilbrey said. "Having three months involved in one billing is confusing for everyone."

According to Bilbrey, bills are sent out by the 12th of the month and are due by the 5th of the following month, giving senior citizens a chance to pay with money from their Social Security checks.

"Everyone has ample time to pay his sewer bills," Bilbrey stated. "Maybe if there was less confusion, we'd have a lower delinquency rate all around," he added.

Explanation of $1000 gift

James Barton, Madison County supervisor of assessments, said today it is not unusual for appointees like himself or Sanitary District Pres. Walter Greathouse to serve as a conduit for political contributions.

Each temporarily had halves of a $1,000 donation. Half went to the Cosentino secretary of state campaign and the other half went to aid several candidates.

Governmental appointees generally help the political campaigns of those who hire them, and he and Greathouse often are asked by various county and state candidates to aid election drives, Barton told the Press-Record.

(Meanwhile, an aside to the state's attorney was quoted Saturday as saying Alton and Edwardsville newspapers may be prosecuted for obstruction of justice in publishing articles about the political gift investigation Friday).

Barton said he talked simultaneously to state and county investigators and has nothing to hide. He later talked to newsmen who approached him, after an apparent "leak" from a prosecutor.

There was never any zoning involvement because the contribution was given "without any strings attached" and during a time he was unaware that Greathouse was on the zoning appeals board, Barton explained.

He said he learned later that an individual went to a Madison County Board member with a financial offer and was told "not a cent" would be accepted and that any proposal would be decided on its merit or lack of merit.

"I've been with Shell 28 years and lived in Hamel all my life. Both are as safe from fire as I can make them."

LeRoy Langendorf

Shell salutes LeRoy for his dedication to fire safety at work and in his community.

Fire protection comes first with LeRoy Langendorf. He's a Senior Safety Inspector at the Safety and Industrial Hygiene Department of the Wood River Manufacturing Complex. He's also Fire Chief of the Hamel, Illinois, Volunteer Fire Department. "Like it or not, fire is always a possibility — at work, because we refine the raw materials to make products like gasoline, heating oil and petrochemicals; at home because of smoking, electrical shorts, improperly used appliances, etc."

LeRoy makes sure his fire crew members are trained in all aspects of industrial firefighting, especially in the areas of refining and chemical manufacturing. He also trains the operating and maintenance personnel to effectively handle fire extinguishers, water hoses and so forth.

That's not all the training LeRoy does. He inducts the Hamel Fire Department Volunteers and teaches his local community about fire safety. "The more people understand fire safety, the more careful they are."

Thanks to LeRoy, Shell's Wood River Complex and Hamel are safer places to live and work.

SOPHOMORES BEING TESTED AT SOUTH

The Differential Aptitude Test (DAT) is being given to all sophomores at Granite City High School South beginning today.

The DAT measures aptitudes in the verbal, numerical, mechanical reasoning, spelling, language arts, clerical aptitude and accuracy skills.

The DAT includes a career planning program which takes into account the student's educational goals, their expressed interests in a great variety of school subjects and activities and interests in fields of work and representative occupations.

In four to six weeks, each student will receive a computerized report, which will be interpreted by a counselor. There is no charge for the testing program, according to Sonya Adkerson, coordinator of the Guidance Department.

He gets $100 per month as fire chief and nothing as the ambulance coordinator. He hasn't taken a vacation in 12 years. Mike is conscientious. With him, we have saved $20,000 a year by setting up our own ambulance system. If we showed this to other cities, they would put us on the back and say what a good job we are doing. VENDING CONFLICT
Question: Is it or is it not a conflict of interest when any city administrator issues vending and amusement licenses for that city, when he, himself, owns a vending machine company in that city?

Question: Why must a citizen identify himself when asking a question in the (Press-Record) Forum before the city administration will answer the question? Why then will the administration not answer the questions when individuals or an individual signs their or his names?

Unidentified body found

Deputy Coroner Dick Mizell has custody of the body of an unidentified man found shortly before 11:30 a.m. Saturday by two hunters in a muddy field adjacent to Illinois Terminal Railroad tracks 1.6 miles east of Illinois Route 203, south of Madison. The field is owned by Granite City Steel.

Madison County Sheriff Emil J. Toffant is asking police and citizens to aid in identifying the man.

TWO MEN ARRESTED, VIOLENCE OFFICER HIT
Charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest were filed by Venice police at 5:45 p.m. Thursday at Weaver and Logan streets against James David Compton, 30, and his brother, Josiah Compton Jr., 33, both of 518 Mercedia St. The latter also was booked on a warrant for lacking a city auto license.

The initial complaint Thursday involved alleged charges to pay for gasoline at the Venice Gas and Oil station, 1101 S. 4th St. It is contended that both men voiced threats and struggled with officers and that Josiah Compton Jr. used a fist to hit a policeman's eye.

There was no obvious cause of death, such as a wound, and the body was in plain view.

The man was 35 to 45 years old, 5-8 to 5-10 in height, weighing 165 to 175, and had a moustache and goatee beard, deputies and Madison police said.

His clothing consisted of a brown corduroy coat, a green T-shirt with the words "1981 annual Kumba festival," underwear and white socks.

He had a silver ring and a silver chain bracelet. There were five old knife scars on the body.

While failing to establish the cause of death, an autopsy showed that the man had been dead two or three days. Anyone with information about his identity may call the sheriff's office at 692-4433.

At a public hearing from 2 to 5 p.m. Thursday—to be held by the Illinois State Board of Education in Cook County Board Room 509 at 118 N. Clark, Chicago—testimony will be accepted on 1983-84 funding needs of elementary and secondary education.

A free workshop for men and women planning to return to college will be held in the Illinois Room, SIUE University Center, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday.

A 25-member citizen panel appointed by the governor, the Illinois Tax Reform Commission, said Friday the state income tax should have $2,040 exemptions per person instead of $1,000, with the individual tax rising to 3 percent from 2.5 and the corporate tax climbing to 5 percent from 4. The recommendation includes ending the 3 percent state and local sales tax on food and drugs.

Most applicants for veterinary school rejected

With competition keen, persons interested in attending the four-year College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Illinois in Urbana, beginning with the 1983-1984 school year, can obtain application materials between now and Jan. 15.

Lloyd Helper, associate dean of students at the college, said applications must be turned in by Jan. 15. Accompanying transcripts, letters of evaluation and test results are to be received at the college by Feb. 1.

Application materials are available from the Office of Admissions and Records, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 10 Administration Building, 308 S. Wright St., Urbana 61801. No materials will be mailed out after Jan. 1, although interested persons can still pick them up in person until the Jan. 15 deadline.

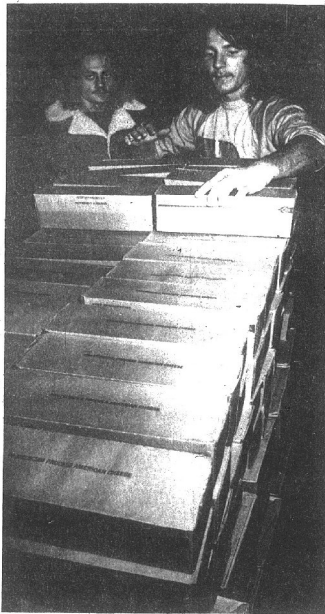

An informational brochure that details requirements and admission data is available anytime from Helper, at 137 Veterinary Medicine Building, 1101 W. Peabody, Urbana 61801.

Applicants must complete a minimum of 60 semester hours of pre-veterinary college-level course work, including courses in biology, chemistry and physics. Although the minimum cumulative grade point average required is 3.5 (3 is C), the mean GPA of applicants that have been accepted for the program has been slightly above 4.5.

Only one out of every three or four applicants is accepted each year. Therefore, Helper urges all pre-veterinary students to structure an academic program that will result in a bachelor's degree that they can "fall back on" if they are not accepted in the veterinary program. Non-residents offered admission are usually from states that either have no veterinary college or have no contractual agreement with another state's veterinary college.

SOUTH WINS SIXTH CROWN

championship game in which he scored both South's goals to lift the Warriors to their sixth championship.

In quarterfinal action

Warriors 2, Mustangs 0

The Granite South soccer team defeated Downers Grove South 2-0 Friday in the first game of the state tournament at the New Trier West campus in Northfield. The win sent the Warriors to the semifinal game against Senn of the Chicago Public League.

Playing on a muddy field, in cold, windy weather, South overcame the chill factor and warmed the Warrior fans at 37:03 when John Menendez headed the ball past goalkeeper Joe Novotny. The assists went to Barry Grote, who sent a corner kick to Bill Hency. Hency headed the ball to Menendez.

In quarterfinals

Senn 2, Malta 0

Senn of the Chicago Public League defeated Malta of the Hinckley Big Rock Sectional, 2-0 Friday in game two of the state soccer tournament. The win advanced Senn to the semifinals.

Kristo Karabatsis and Jose Linares

New Trier 1, Hinsdale 0

New Trier High School edged past Hinsdale South, 1-0 Friday in the third game of the state soccer tournament. Sam Labbat scored for the Trevians in the second quarter. New Trier goalkeeper Charlie Talbot and Hinsdale

With 18:38 left in the third quarter, Hency put the game away on a shot from about two yards into the penalty box that sailed past Novotny.

"I thought we played with them all the way," said DGS coach Chuck Novotny. "We wanted to play a good game and do as well as we could. They had to prove on the field that they were better than us and they did." DGS finished the season 13-6-2.

Although South coach Gene Baker conceded that "we would like to have scored more," he said he believed that "2-0 is by comparison a very good win."

scored Senn's goals. The Bulldogs completely dominated the game with a total 22 shots to Malta's 11. Senn scored first in the second quarter and again in the third. Malta finished the season 20-8.

goalkeeper Jim Cekanor each recorded six saves. Shots were 18 for New Trier and eight for Hinsdale South.

The win advanced New Trier to the semifinals. Hinsdale South finished the season with a 16-5-1 record.

Evanston 2, Lanphier 0

Evanston Township defeated Springfield Lanphier 2-0 on first and fourth quarter goals Friday in the fourth game of the state tournament.

Jeff Destefano and Mike Roettig each scored for Evanston. The Wildcats blew the Lions out statistically with 34 shots to six. Springfield goalkeeper Jeff Reno made 10 saves to Evanston goalkeeper Harold Bailey's two.

The win advanced the Wildcats to the semifinal game against New Trier. Springfield ended its season with a 13-5-1 record.

New Trier 2, Evanston 0

New Trier defeated Evanston Township 2-0 in the second semifinal game of the state soccer tournament Saturday. The victory advanced Evanston to the final game Saturday night against Granite South.

Ken Shadlen and Jeff Fine scored for the Trevians in what turned out to be the most aggressive game of the state tournament. The two teams had played twice before with Evanston ending up with 1-0 wins.

The record for number of shutouts in a tournament was tied during the semifinal. Six shutouts were also recorded in the 1974 game.

Evanston finished the season with a 17-2-3 record. The only other Wildcats loss was against Granite South 4-1 at the Glenbrook North Tournament early in the season.

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

NORTHFIELD — Granite South goalkeeper Jeb Blasingame had one thing in mind as he watched New Trier's Robbie Smith approach the Warrior goal with the ball at his feet: "I just thought I've got to stop it."

With 25 seconds remaining in the final game of the state soccer tournament Saturday night at New Trier West High School, Blasingame scarcely had time to think before he punched Smith's shot out of the area. But he realized in the split second between the shot and the save that a Trevian goal would tie the game and take the teams into overtime.

Blasingame's sixth save of the evening killed the Trevians last attempt, which assured the Warriors a 2-1 victory and their sixth state soccer tournament in 11 years.

For the 15-year-old sophomore goalkeeper, it was a chance to redeem the one mistake he made during the game.

With 2:06 remaining in the first quarter, Blasingame "misjudged" a shot by Trevian David Nordahl. "I thought it was going over the top, but the wind caught it and brought it back," Blasingame said.

The goal, which was assisted by Phil Cole, seemed to stun the Warriors, and as the first half came to an end they played with panicked looks on their faces.

But during halftime they were told by coach Gene Baker and assistant Mel Bunting that they could win if they really wanted. "If we just played our hearts out, we could do it," senior striker Fritz Brewer said.

South's Nathan Crane, who had his best game of the tournament and perhaps of the entire season against New Trier, put in both Warrior goals with the first in the third quarter.

With 6:32 remaining Brewer sent a corner kick to Crane who shot past Trevian goalkeeper Charlie Talbot. The 1-1 tie held, but the Warriors were in the Trevian area so much that a shot was bound to hit target. At 16:30 in the fourth quarter, Sam Mendoza passed to Crane and he put the ball past

"Well, I knew we were going to keep pushing and score another goal. It feels good to score two goals in the final game."

Talbot, who dove but couldn't make the save.

"Well, I knew we were going to keep pushing and score another goal," Crane said. "It feels good to score two goals in the final game," he added.

Admittedly, Crane had not been playing as well as possible during the tournament. The main factor that brought him around during the championship game he said, "was playing in the final."

After the game, most of the team members said they were confident they would win.

"I felt that we'd always come back," said defender Tony Segobiano. "We dominated from the beginning. They had a lucky goal, the wind carried it in."

But there were some moments of panic amid the optimism. Brewer said, "I was just going crazy. I felt kinda bad at first, but I knew we'd come back," after the Trevians scored. On the last shot, "I was holdin' my breath," he said.

Baker said he realized that South could lose. "I think realistically you have to feel that from the beginning." Mentioning New Trier's home field advantage and the fact they had not lost a game there, he said he believed there was a great "psychological gain" for the Trevians.

"They had nothing to lose. They've never done better than second (in the state finals)."

Tony Schinto, New Trier coach, had a different attitude. Second was not a prospect that pleased him.

He bemoaned the injuries the Trevians sustained during their semifinal game against Evanston. All-state striker Chris Rositter sustained a concussion that kept him on the sidelines during the finals. Nordahl was playing with a slight concussion and several other players had a variety of ailments.

"I would have liked to have played them at full strength," Schinto said.

Adding that he did not want to take anything away from South, he said, "they're a good team. I'm not ashamed to lose to them 2-1. Without Charlie Talbot it could have been 200 to one." The Warriors had 30 shots to the Trevians' six.

For South, the victory gave them the state trophy once again. "We have a great tradition going. It was broken last year by a great team," he said referring to Collinsville's state title last year.

When the state medals were presented, Baker's eyes glistened as he accepted his. The Warriors took the traditional victory lap with the rebel flag amid cheers from the contingent of South fans. Then, the returned to hoist Baker on their shoulders.

"This is a record breaking team. I'm really proud of this group," he said. Statistically, the Warriors have never been better with a 29-2 season.

"They did a super job."

In semifinal action

Granite City South 1, Senn Bulldogs 0

General consensus before Granite South played Senn of the Chicago Public League Saturday morning in the first semifinal game of the state tournament was that the Warriors would "blow out" the Bulldogs.

Consensus among the more optimistic fans, that is South coach Gene Baker took a look at Senn Friday and knew the game wouldn't be a rout.

The Warriors squeaked past the Bulldogs 1-0 on a vital-high shot by Tony Segobiano with 9:51 left in the second quarter. The assist went to Barry Grote on an indirect kick. Senn's defense was up to the task of keeping South away and although the Warriors took 14 shots, Bulldog goalkeeper Ed Gewartis made only three saves.

South's Jeb Blasingame made a comparable two saves, but Senn never really had a prime scoring chance as the Warrior defense played well. Matt Sheridan marked Jose Ramos, who later was named to the all-tournament team, and kept him from moving in on Blasingame.

Senn finished the season 16-4-3.

For a losing coach, Senn's John Pasternski, seemed particularly happy. "No we weren't intimidated by South. We played kind of flat the first half, but we played better ball the second half."

While South controlled the ball early and held on for the majority of the Grote, Segobiano, Hency named to all-tournament team

Barry Grote, Tony Segobiano and Bill Hency of Granite South all were named to the all-tournament team at the state soccer championships in Northfield.

Both Segobiano and Grote are backs and Hency is a link.

Segobiano said he was not certain he was named to the team because the announcement was made at half-time game, the Bulldogs just weren't giving up any goals. "Just one defensive mistake" cost the game Pasternski said referring to Segobiano's goal that caught Gewartis off guard.

"I think they're a good team," Baker said of Senn. "We would have liked to have put more balls in the goal," he added.

"We're happy to get to the final."

when the Warriors were in the locker room.

Other named to the team include Goalkeeper Jim Cekanor and forward Srdjan Grlbic of Hinsdale South; halfback Jose Linares and forward Jose Ramos of Senn; back Ed Madayag and striker Chris Rositter of New Trier; forward Mike Roettig and fullback Marx Success of Evanston.

Find an enjoyable exercise

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

Forty-five percent of all Americans do not engage in any regular physical activity. Are you one of that number?

Have you been chair-bound for some time? Is it possible for you to "get back in shape"?

If you can move at all, you can tone up your muscles and improve your cardiovascular system. The secret is in finding a form of physical activity that you enjoy doing, because that greatly increases your chances of sticking with it.

Regular exercise enables you to carry out your daily duties and responsibilities and have enough vigor left over to enjoy social and recreational interests.

It helps you be more independent; it helps you to respond to the needs of others, and this enables you to lead a productive life.

Entry fee is $1. Further information may be obtained at the "Y," 876-7200, a spokesman said.

BAC offers murder mystery, comedy

"Mix the ingredients for a murder mystery and comedy together and you'll come up with 'The Real Inspector Hound,'" to be presented at 8 p.m. Nov. 19, 20 and 21 at Belleville Area College, a spokesman said.

The play is the main attraction of a double billing. The aptly named comedy, "The Shock of Recognition" from "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" by Robert Anderson. The comedy is about an actor who unknowingly auditions for a nude part in a play.

The main course is a British comedy, "The Real Inspector Hound" by Tom Stoppard. "Hound" is a play within a play, centering around two critics, Moon and Birdboot, who, along with the audience, are challenged to discover who does what to whom, and why.

Both plays satirize actors, playwrights and producers. Several members of the cast appear in both productions. Allan Viguerie of Lebanon plays the Broadway producer Herb in the first show, then heavily disguised Major Magnus in "Hound." Marilyn Bowlin of O'Fallon goes from the giggly secretary Dorothy in "Shock" to the unflappable housekeeper in "Hound."

The auditioning actor in the first show, Pawling, is played by Jesse Webb of Mascoutah as the vivacious elegant Lady Cynthia Muldoon. Alan Friedman, BAC instructor and the play's director, takes the role of theater critic Moon.

The plays will be presented in the theater at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville. Tickets are $1 for the public. The play is free to BAC students with an identification card.

Also in "Hound" are Scott Simonides of Scott Air Force Base as the handsome heartthrob Simon Gasgoyne, Bob Lee of Belleville as the mysterious corpse, Kathleen Worthen of O'Fallon as the female ingenue Felicity Cunningham, and Susan Webb of Mascoutah as the vivacious elegant Lady Cynthia Muldoon. Alan Friedman, BAC instructor and the play's director, takes the role of theater critic Moon.

The plays will be presented in the theater at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville. Tickets are $1 for the public. The play is free to BAC students with an identification card.

County jail designed for fire safety

A fire that left 27 dead at the Harrison County Jail in Biloxi, Miss., last week could not have happened at the new Madison County Jail, according to Henry Gabriel, the jail's architect.

Gabriel said the jail built in 1980 has fire prevention equipment to minimize the chance of fire.

The county jail, Gabriel said, has an automatic door system, smoke detectors and an exhaust system.

The Harrison County Jail, he said, probably has locks that must be hand-turned to let prisoners out of their cells.

"I don't think a thing like that could happen here," he said. "We've got an electric door system. In case of fire, the doors are opened from the entry to the cell blocks. The prisoners are then let into the halls."

Robert E. McDonald, 35, of 3600 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was hauled by police at 25th and Adams streets last week and was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and disorderly conduct. Leonard R. Cole, 25, of 29 Westgate, was booked for disorderly conduct.

Major Edwin Knezovich of the Madison County Sheriff's department said Pates previously spent time in the Madison County Jail.

Knezovich would not confirm reports that Pates also did damage to a padded cell here.

"We're not going to comment on that because it will put us in the place of a defense witness for the Biloxi, Miss., case," Knezovich said.

Other reports indicate, however, that Pates once caused $2,000 damage to a Madison County padded cell when he tore padding off the walls during one stay at the jail.

Gabriel says an extremely hot blaze is required to ignite the padded cells in the Madison County Jail.

There are two padded cells, one for males and another — for female prisoners. Each cell has a one-eighth inch vinyl covering.

If heated, Gabriel said, the material might smoke and set off a toxic fume.

However, he added, the padding would not burn. "You need a hot fire to burn that material. I can't imagine how the guy (in Mississippi) got in there with matches or clothes," he said.

"The only thing that could be ignited in our jail is the mattress, and there are no mattresses in our padded cells."

Padded cells are designed for people who have "flipped their lids," according to Gabriel. He said that before inmates are placed into padded cells in the Madison County Jail, they're stripped and searched for weapons.

Psychology, gardening among BAC television courses this spring

Students will explore the depths of the ocean and the depths of the human brain via television this spring.

Marine biology and child development have been added to the schedule of television courses at Belleville Area College.

General psychology, The Home Gardener, Introduction to data processing and America: The Second Century, four television courses that have been well received by BAC students, will be offered again during the spring 1983 semester.

Courses are aired during early morning hours and videotapes are available on campus and in the Granite City Public Library to make viewing convenient for those who work full time.

Produced by national companies, the courses are more than televised lectures. They include on-campus testing and tours, use of student study guides and textbooks, and phone, personal and mail contact with BAC experts in each field.

For additional information, interested persons may call 235-2700, extension 200.

Tuition is $19 per semester hour. Marine biology, child development, general psychology and America: The Second Century have an additional $20 television fee. The Home Gardener and Introduction to data

The Madison County padded cells are not immune to damage, Knezovich said. The jail has had instances of inmates tearing the cell padding apart with their teeth and fingernails.

"It can be done," he said. "They can work their fingernails into the padding."

The jail's policy of not allowing inmates into the padded cell with any utensils, matches or, sometimes, even clothes, limits the damage they can do, Knezovich said.

The Madison County Jail has a central control system with television cameras focused on every cell block.

Regular cell blocks, Gabriel said, are made of steel. There are grills on the back walls of each cell so that air circulates.

"If anyone builds a fire, the alarm system will go off. There is also an exhaust system in every cell with a fan to blow the smoke out," he said.

The nation's worst prison fire this century occurred on April 21, 1930, at the Ohio State Penitentiary in Columbus. The fire killed 320 convicts.

On June 26, 1977, 33 inmates and nine visitors died at the Maury County Jail in Columbia, Tenn.

A winter home energy check list from ILLINOIS POWER

To conserve energy...and your money

With winter on it's way, now is a good time to give your home an inspection and find where energy may be escaping and costing you hard-earned dollars.

How's your attic insulation? Heat rises—and your attic is where most of the heat escapes during the winter. A properly insulated attic can save you money.

Are all of the exterior cracks and seams in your siding filled with caulking compound? If not, this is a good do-it-yourself project.

Drafts around your doors and windows? Weatherstrip doors and windows and seal out those drafts and save money.

Have you changed your furnace filter lately? Dirt and dust block air flow, impede heat transfer—and cost you money.

And it's a good idea to have your furnace checked by a heating contractor before winter sets in.

For more money-saving ideas, talk to your Energy Use Advisor at Illinois Power and ask about the National Energy Watch home inspection program. We can show you the best ways to save energy—and money.

So give your home an energy inspection soon.

Budget tight for deputies, jury costs

By JIM SCHLUETER

Extra money tentatively earmarked for the Madison County sheriff's department and the county courts will relieve some symptoms of these departments' budget problems, but the additional money will not be a cure.

Seventeen employees of the sheriff's department received layoff notices this month because of budget cuts to avoid a $2 million general fund budget deficit. Two of the six deputies included in the layoffs who received pink slips will be retained if the sheriff's department receives the extra $50,000 recommended by the county's finance committee, according to Maj. Ewin Knezevich, director of administration for the sheriff's department.

The sheriff may receive the funds because county voters approved referendum establishing special tax funds for the county nursing and sheltered homes in the November election.

The new special taxes will free up $197,294 the county's finance committee had recommended to use to subsidize the two county homes.

The committee has earmarked $50,000 of that $197,294 for the sheriff, but the full board must approve the committee's recommendations when it votes on the 1983 county budget at Wednesday's full board meeting. The fiscal year begins Dec. 1.

Knezevich said the sheriff's department needs more money, as evidenced by the layoff of 15 people despite the extra money, but he said he appreciates the county's fiscal problems.

"Every little bit helps," Knezevich said. "Every job we save is that much less drop in service delivery. We're glad for the $50,000, and we're lobbying for more."

If the sheriff's department receives the $50,000, four deputies will be laid off, along with five janitors, two control room operators, two office workers and two matrons, according to Knezevich.

However, seven deputies will be taken off patrol to replace the five janitors and two control room operators who are losing their jobs. Although that means 11 fewer deputies will be on patrol, Knezevich said maintaining the jail is the first priority.

Another department receiving money is the circuit court, which is getting an extra $40,000.

Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Barr told the finance committee that the courts' original budget of $444,403 would mean the courts would not be able to afford any jury trials after August or September 1983.

But according to Barr, the $40,000, which would raise the court budget to $484,403, still may not be enough to keep jury trials throughout the year.

"I don't think it's going to get us through, but it's a help," Barr said. "It should take us pretty well through September and October next year."

Barr said the courts need $509,550 to make it through fiscal year 1983, and that any budget cuts will have to be absorbed by the line item for juries.

In 1982, the item for the juries was $219,440. With budget reductions required of the courts in fiscal year 1983, that figure was sliced to $154,853.

Barr said the additional $40,000, if approved by the county board, will increase the line item for juries to $194,853.

Although Barr said that amount still was not enough, he said he will not go to the finance committee for more money.

He thinks the courts should wait until the fiscal year is in progress and then ask the committee for money out of the county's contingency fund.

Games, swimming, group activities for youngsters

The Tri-City Area YMCA has developed a new program, supervised by Natalie Bunter. Fun-N-Fitness is designed for any child, age five through 11, she said.

Healthful game activities are held from 3:30 to 4:45 p.m., and from 4:45 to 5:30 p.m. there is recreational swimming.

From 5:30 to 6 p.m., the youngsters will participate in group activities. Parents will be expected to pick up their children at the "Y" by 6 o'clock.

Cost for the program is $2 a day for YMCA members and $3 a day for others. Participants must sign up for at least two days per week.

The fitness program will be offered each day that school is in session.

Education week theme cites funds

The theme for American Education Week, Nov. 14-20, "A Strong Nation Needs Strong Schools," emphasizes the importance of adequate funding for local schools, according to State Superintendent of Education Donald Gill.

"For students to meet the challenges of our rapidly changing technological society, we cannot afford for our schools to offer anything less than excellence in educational programs," Dr. Gill said.

However, this excellence is threatened because many school districts are now faced with deficit spending resulting from the dwindling supply of state and federal dollars for education.

"The future for many districts may mean a reduction in course offerings, services and materials for students."

"During American Education Week, I will urge Illinois citizens to support their schools and visit them to see first-hand the dedicated instruction that takes place to provide children a strong educational basis to prepare them for their future roles."

We'll be seeing another story about the older woman-younger man syndrome when CBS airs "Six Months With An Older Woman" next season starring John Ritter as an uptight attorney and Karen Carlson as a free-spirited woman 15 years his senior.

Artists made 1.5 million drawings and used 300 gallons of paint and 600 colors doing the animation for the new movie "The Secret of Nihm."

Hard work is nothing new to the movie's producer, Don Bluth who says while growing up in Utah, he milked 24 cows every morning before school.

"Captain Kangaroo," the longest-running, regularly-scheduled children's TV program, will get new time slots on CBS this fall running from 7 to 8 a.m. on Saturday mornings and 8 to 9 a.m. on Sunday mornings. Those are Eastern Times.

Bob Keeshan, who plays the Captain, will also produce three or four after-school children's specials for CBS.

Admirers of the Greg Kihn Band can learn some very intimate tidbits about the group by joining the Official Greg Kihn Fan Club and receiving a newsletter going only to fan club members.

Among the exciting disclosures are Kihn's sock size, bassist Greg Wright's favorite baseball position, that the Monkees were profound influences on guitarist Dave Carpenter, and that keyboardist Gary Phillips' favorite rock star is Victor Rocco.

Those interested in joining the fan club can write to: Pam Schuman, 600 20th Ave., N.E., Minneapolis, Minn., 55418.

Rhett Forrester, the new lead vocalist of the New York heavy metal band Riot, says he's been into rock 'n roll music for eight years and joined his first band after being thrown out of the Naval Academy.

"When I walked into the audition for Riot, it was as though I'd known those guys all my life — they're every bit as rowdy as I am."

Eddie Raven's new album tentatively entitled "Raven on the Wing," is due out in September.

Gary Buck recently went to Tullahoma, Tenn., to give moral support to Dave Rowland, who was working there solo.

In 1974, Buck and Rowland worked together as half of The Four Guys, of Grand Ol' Opry fame.

Duane Allen of the Oak Ridge Boys has welcomed nine additions to his family. His prize Golden Labrador is a new father and the mother and all nine puppies are doing well.

Roy Clark, who is a pilot himself, is hosting the 1982 Enshrinement Ceremonies for the National Aviation Hall of Fame where the Navy's Blue Angels will be honored.

Glen Campbell is already set for a five-week pre-Christmas concert tour which will take Glen to England, Holland, Germany, Scandinavia and South Africa.

Whispering Bill Anderson was honored recently at the Suffolk Downs race track with a race named the Bill Anderson Purse.

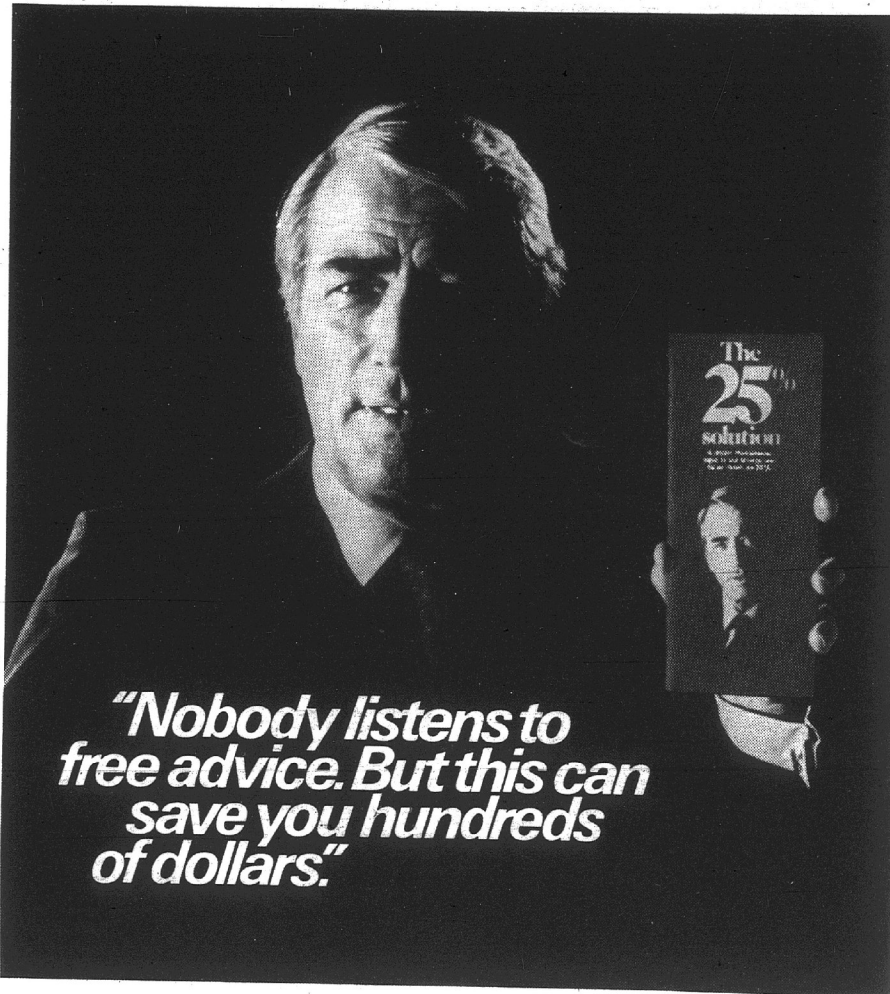

Bill says, "I didn't even have my purse with me."

Tammy Wynette is recording her next album for Epic Records which will be the second LP produced by her husband and manager George Richey.

The Bellamy Brothers can thank their dad, Homer, for the unusual percussion accompaniment to "Almost Jamaica," a number on their upcoming Elektra-Asylum album.

A surprise for Bryant Gumbel?

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — A recent release from the news department at NBC must have left Jane Pauley happy.

And Bryant Gumbel surprised?

It promises, for starters, that Pauley "will be conducting additional newsmaker interviews and fulfilling more reportorial assignments in the field from sites of major news stories as the NBC News morning program restructures its news and feature segments..."

This is more or less what Pauley in an interview a year ago promised she'd be doing once Tom Brokaw flew the "Today" coop.

And it doesn't totally contradict what Gumbel was saying a couple of weeks ago, but it doesn't totally coincide with his expressed views either.

The release goes on to say:

"NBC audience research reports have consistently found that Jane Pauley, with more seniority than her colleagues on 'Today,' remains high in appeal."

Reuven Frank, NBC News president, is quoted as saying, "Jane seems central to 'Today's' acceptance and success."

After it was announced that Brokaw was going to bow out of the morning show, Pauley surmised that, with his departure, she'd be doing the heavier interviews.

Tom, she said, had been clearly the first among equals which was as it should have been, "Since he came to the 'Today' show from covering the White House, while I came from local news."

But in the future, she thought, things would be different.

Then, Gumbel settled in at the anchor desk, having come from covering sports, and, according to his own account, became the primary personality on the news team.

When the president went to Europe, Gumbel went with him.

And, he said recently, "If newsmaker interviews are done in New York, I'll do them."

Answering published rumors that a "Today" show shakeup was in the offing, because the show's ratings were lackadaisical, Gumbel said, "If I could stand on my head and increase the ratings, I wouldn't do it."

"There will be no major personnel changes this year," he said, adding that he has a three-year contract which he has every intention of fulfilling.

Informed that Pauley, prior to his joining the show, had said that she expected her assignments to be upgraded, Gumbel clearly implied that he's the person in charge on the "Today" anchor desk.

His status, he said, had been "ironed out up front..." He added that he's "the primary character you're seeing."

As to how well his sports background had prepared him for interviews with political figures, etc., Gumbel sensibly noted that all interviews require the same sort of preparation "unless you're a, 'Hey, buddy, how's your arm?'" sports-caster.

"That's what I call the guys who begin an interview by throwing an arm around a player and asking, 'Hey, buddy, how's your arm?'"

"But I never worked that way."

Whether he's going to interview a pitcher or a politician, Gumbel studies the subject's background, he said.

Asked whether there was friction between himself and Pauley, he said he hadn't noticed any. Still, he didn't go out of his way to praise her abilities.

As for the "Today" show's ratings, Gumbel pointed out, "When Rather took over for Cronkite, he was buried for nine months."

If the public perceives him as a lighter weight newsmen than Brokaw, "The perception comes from my manner as opposed to Tom's."

"My manner is casual. Tom's is a lot more formal. "... I have a number of things to be optimistic about ... but I wish I could not see my name in print for a while."

Please remember that the recent NBC release didn't specifically contradict Gumbel's views.

It said Pauley would be conducting "additional newsmaker interviews," but it didn't say they'd be in New York. It remarked upon her seniority, but it didn't say she'd replace Gumbel as the "primary character."

Even so, the release should have left her happy. And Gumbel, surprised?

Diane Goodman of 'Hee Haw'

By DON FREEMAN

HOLLYWOOD — She said: "I can play the dumb blonde pretty well now 'cause I've studied doin' it. I've got the wide-eyed innocent look and I've got the Southern accent and I've got the light hair. That's all that's needed."

And she said: "When people look at me, they don't expect me to say much of anything that has to do with an intelligent conversation. But that doesn't matter, really, if I can make people laugh, which I can most certainly do."

And then Diane Goodman, who is a performer on "Hee Haw," smiled and looked very nice as befits a onetime Miss Dixie 500 down in Darlington, S.C., and a Miss Georgia in the Miss U.S.A. pageant of 1976 and a cheerleader for the Atlanta Falcons for four years out of high school, which was also when she was attending Georgia State University.

There, at Georgia State, she took drama classes to get rid of the shyness that was a part of her personality. She is no longer shy. A shy person could not, as Diane did once, work as a purveyor of singing telegrams — even with a bathing suit on underneath.

"Hee Haw" is a good place for attractive young women with a certain Southern flavor. And Diane fits in perfectly even though, as she says: "It is hot what you would call a cerebral form of entertainment. But it is good fun and it is good funny, too, when I do my bit with George Lindsey on the 'Goober's Garage' segments."

She pauses. "I mean," she says, "you can't very well do Lady Macbeth with a Georgia accent."

There is some evidence that the Georgia accent is beginning to wane. But it will stay secure as long as she is with the 'Hee Haw' troupe and she is in no hurry at the moment.

"Doing 'Hee Haw' is so good for me," Diane says. "You learn about how a show is done. You learn and you work off it. It's easy to get another job when you have one. If you don't have a job, the doors close. With a cast of 44 people, it takes 45 minutes for them to give everybody a shot, which means the show is edited and produced with a lot of finesse. I have no complaints. I am having a wonderful time."

She lives in Los Angeles and goes back to Nashville for the "Hee Haw" tapings and then comes back and performs comedy and writes and works with the L.A. Connection comedy group. When she was competing for the Miss U.S.A. crown, in fact, she did a comedy routine.

She sees herself in the mold of a Carol Burnett or a Lucille Ball, meaning that she likes physical comedy. "If I could develop one me out of three people," she says, "they would be Carol and Lucy and Mae West just to spice it up."

Diane Goodman was born in Alma, Ga., a town of about 10,000 inhabitants situated 150 miles north of the Florida line. It was pure "Hee Haw." She says: "We lived on a farm. We had a wood frame house and a privy outside with the half-moon carved on the door. Until I was 9, we had no indoor toilet facilities."

Pure "Hee Haw," indeed.

She says: "There were five kids and a lot of land. My daddy farmed and we always had enough to eat — vegetables, meat, peaches from the orchard. We weren't poor. But the indoor facilities I guess just didn't seem necessary. After a bit, we did get a telephone, though. Then we moved around some, finally going up to the northern part of the state to Griffin and then I got a scholarship to Georgia State after getting A's and B's in high school. Georgia State is right smack in the heart of Atlanta, which makes it a long way to go for a li'l ole gal who grew up in the country without the indoor facilities."

"I studied special education for three years and I taught retarded children. I found that for these children it was helpful if you could play with words. Wordplay was beneficial as well as fun and it's something I've always liked so much, this whole idea of being playful with words. And then I decided I wanted one day to be a stand-up comic. It'll happen. But for now, I'm happy enjoying the real coming-true of a lot of dreams I had a long time ago."
